USER GUIDE | OCTOBER 2023

ATP Complete 2 System Activation

Created by Nicolas Picon at Empire Bio Diagnostics

Activate your handheld by connecting it to your facility's account. Begin on the website, generate an activation code, then complete registration on the handheld.

Before you begin

Have your account email, handheld, and facility Wi-Fi access available. Keep your account credentials and activation code ready as you move between the website and device.

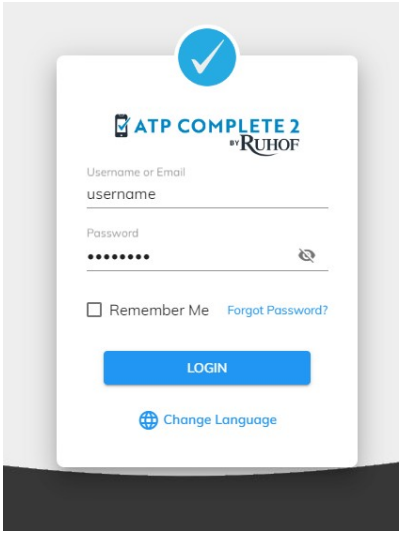

Already have website access and can log in? Skip steps 1 and 2 and start at step 3 on page 2.

1 Find your account email

Look for an email from the ATP Complete 2 System (@rctestnow.com). It contains your username, password, and activation link. Check your inbox and junk folder.

2 Log in to the website

Open the activation link in the email. Enter the supplied username and password to log in.

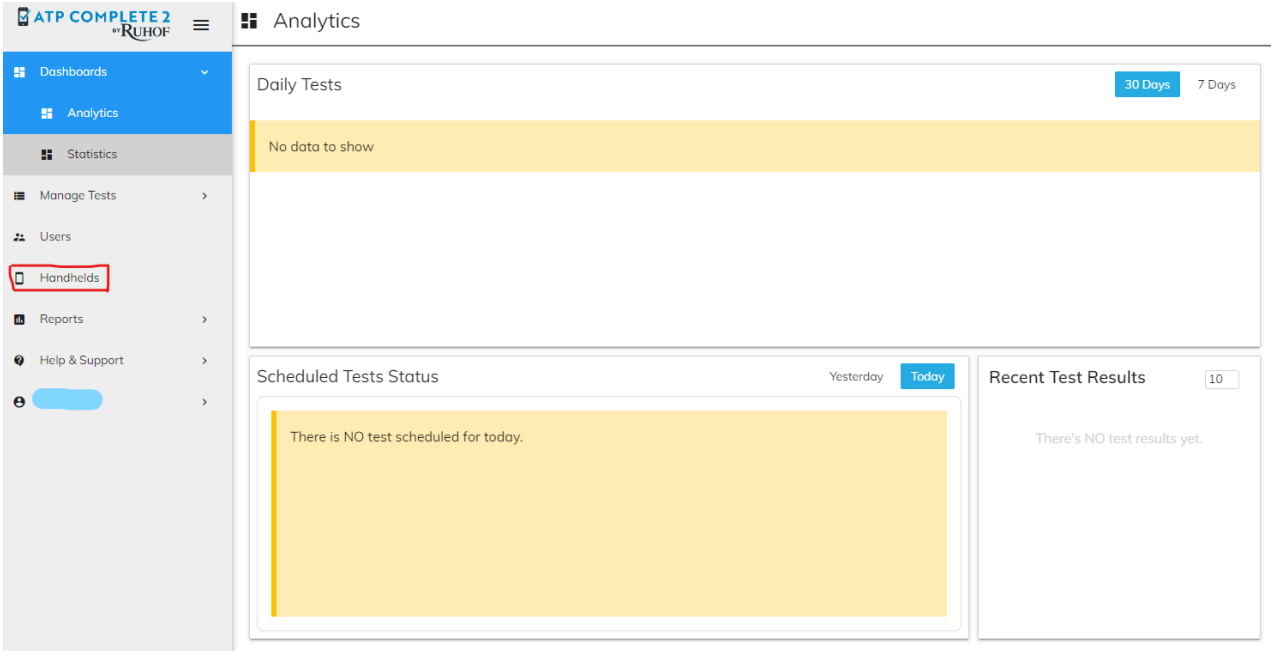

Website login screen. Use the credentials provided in your account email.

WEBSITE | STEPS 3 AND 4

Open handheld activation

3 Select Handhelds

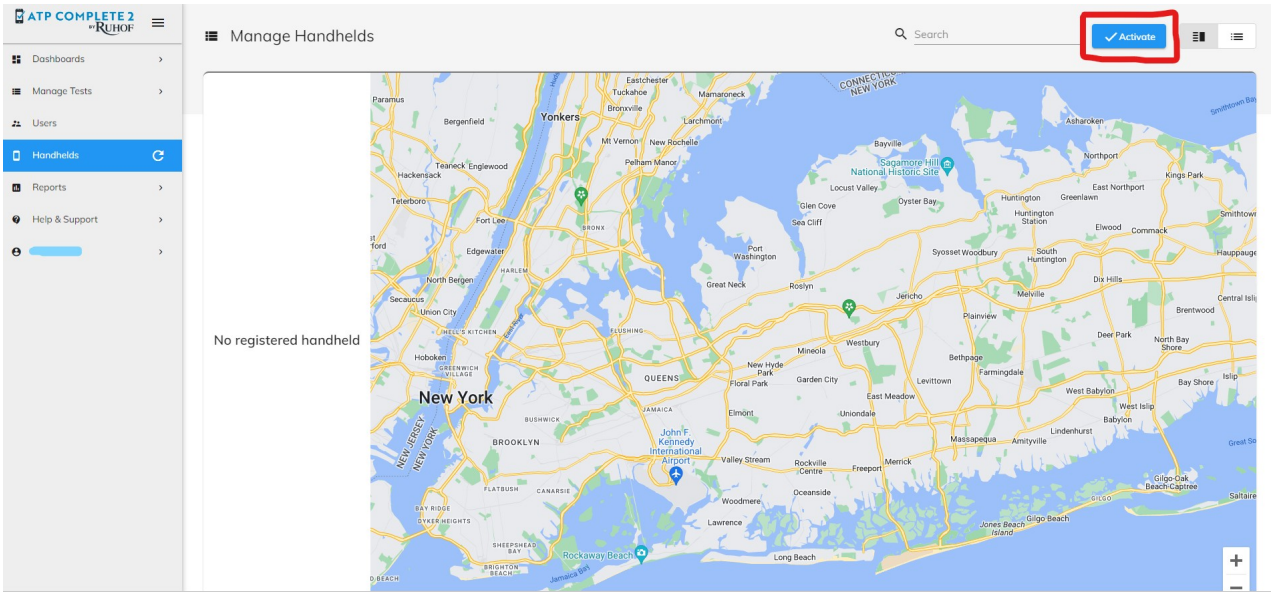

In the navigation menu on the left, select Handhelds.

Handhelds is highlighted in red in the navigation menu.

4 Select Activate

On the Manage Handhelds screen, select Activate in the top-right corner.

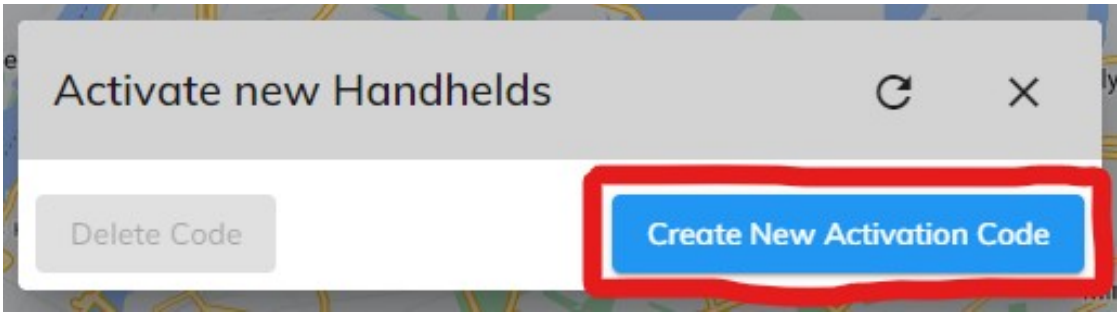

The highlighted Activate button opens the activation window.

Create your code and prepare the device

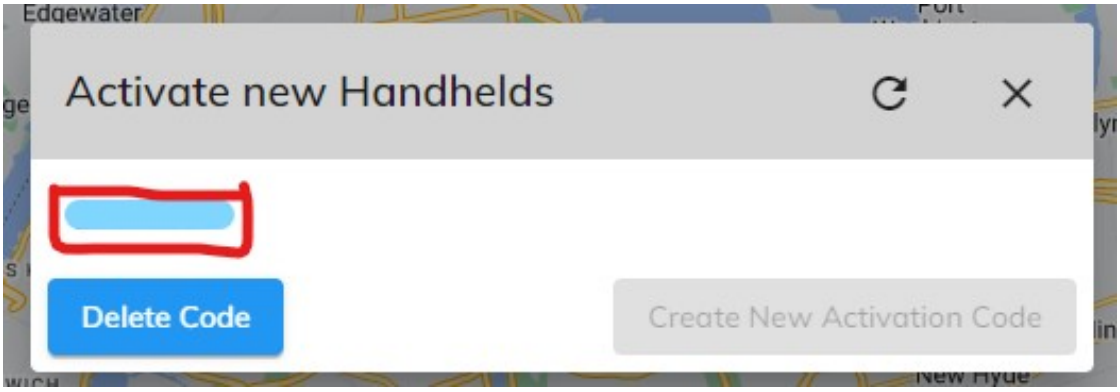

5 Create an activation code

Select Create New Activation Code in the activation window.

Create the code on the website before continuing on the handheld.

Make a note of the code that appears. You will enter it on the handheld in step 7.

Your code appears in this window. The code is concealed in this screenshot.

The activation code registers the handheld. It is different from your account password, which you use to log in.

6 Connect the handheld to Wi-Fi

Turn on the handheld and connect it to your facility's Wi-Fi network.

Ready to switch to the handheld

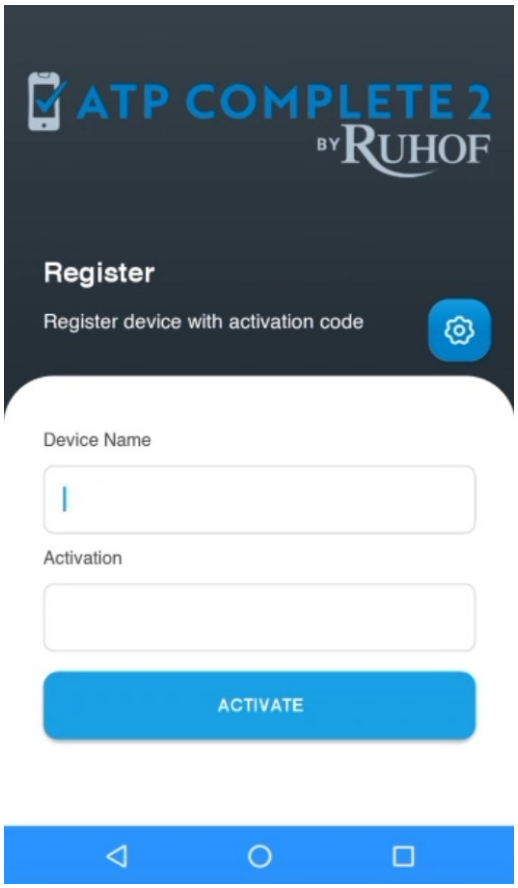

Keep the activation code and your account credentials available. You will also need to enter a name for the device.

HANDHELD | STEPS 7 AND 8
